A REQUEST FOR INFORMATION.

The following pages contain an abstract of one line of a large genealogical collection which it is hoped to make, with your assistance, as complete as possible.

Will you be good enough to (1) call the attention of the compiler to any inaccuracies of statement there may be, no matter how slight; (2) supply missing dates wherever you can; (3) send unpublished anecdotes and other information about the persons named in this abstract; (4) state the cause of death of all ancestors — and also of their sisters and brothers; (5) kindly lend to the compiler, for a few days, any paper, (letters, deeds, wills, etc.), which may contain a signature of one of the direct ancestors named herein.

It is thought that nearly all possible information from published histories has been obtained, hence this personal appeal. The completed genealogy, which it is proposed to publish at some future time, will contain over 55 pictures of different grandparents, and about 75 pictures of homes they occupied, monuments, tablet-inscriptions, graves, and other interesting matter of a pictorial nature. The work is of such magnitude that it has been found necessary to confine it to one direct line, only giving the names of collateral relatives.

The completed collection will consist of three volumes, the first relating to my paternal line, the secondto my maternal line and the third to the line of my late wife, Clara Mitchell Macbeth.

In various places it will be noticed that I have referred to "List of South Carolina Huguenots" and "Huguenots of SouthCarolina." The "List of South Carolina Huguenots" is simply a list, published in pamphlet form, by Daniel Ravenel (brother of James 106), of Wantoot, in 1868, of the "French and Swiss Protestants who desired naturalization in 1695–6." The "Huguenots of South Carolina" was taken from a pamphlet published by Dr. T. Gaillard Thomas, the correct title being: "A Contribution to the History of the Huguenots of South Carolina, by Samuel Dubose, Esq., and Prof. Frederick A. Porcher." All the dates mentioned were sent to me by various relatives, and were either copied from the family bibles in their possession, or, from other authentic sources. When the collection is completed it is intended to give the authority, wherever possible, for every statement made, with the address of informant. Though this will entail much labor it will form a valuable family record for future generations.

April 20th, 1907.

It is a harder thing to make out a clear and certain ancestry going back 120 years than the average citizen thinks until he tries it; and to establish an ancestor's service in the war is more difficult yet. The old archives have been burned and wasted, the rosters have disappeared in many instances, family tradition is all that there is to prove one's title clear — and family tradition does not admit to the Society of the Sons of the Revolution. The New England records are in the best condition and the Middle States, except Deleware, have excellent and well preserved annals. Maryland and Virginia's are meagre. The revolutionary rolls of North Carolina are wholly lost; South Carolina's are almost in the same fix and Georgia alone of the Southern States has anything like a complete roster of the men sent to the war. When the British burned Washington, an immense number of the records were lost, and the Civil War made further inroads into the Southern muniments. Still, it is said by those who know, that once a man takes up a genealogy as a study, he will seldom abandon it until he has settled his personal problem anyway. (St. Louis Post-Dispatch, September 29th, 1895.)

Baluet:

Esther Madeleine Baluet and Judith Baluet seem to have come from the same part of France and were probably sisters.

Judith Baluet married Benjamin Marion.

(1) Esther Madeleine Baluet, tenth generation, married Antoine Cordes (18), (List of So. Ca. Huguenots).

Bossu:

Bossu (le) de Chimay en Flandre. De guenles a la bande d'or. (Inserted for future reference).

(2) Elizabeth Bossu, twelfth generation, was probably a native of St. Quentin, France. She married Jacques Leger (60), a native of that place. (List of So. Ca. Huguenots).

Bouhier:

(3) Sarah Bouhier, twelfth generation, according to the List of the So. Ca. Huguenots, married Charles Buretel.

Buretel:

(4) Charles Buretel, twelfth generation, was probably a native of La Rochelle, France. He married Sarah Bouhier, (3). They had a son named Pierre (5), (the emigrant), who was born in La Rochelle, France. (List of So. Ca. Huguenots).

Pierre Buretel (5), died before June 12th, 1712, as mention is made at that time of his widow in the settlement of the Estate of Alexander Chastaigner (13).

(5) Pierre Buretel, eleventh generation, married Elizabeth Chintrie (15), and had a daughter named Elizabeth (6), born.....; died.....

(6) Elizabeth Buretel, tenth generation, married Alexandré Thésée Chastaigner (12).

Burgeaud:

(7) Jeanne Burgeaud, tenth generation, was a native of L'isle de Re. She married Elias Prioleau (91), the emigrant.

Challion:

(8) Louis Challion, tenth generation (or Challiou), married Benoite Pitauer (89). They had a daughter named Catherine (9), who is mentioned in the List of So. Ca. Huguenots, as having been born in Lyons, France. As there is no record of her parents having come to this country, she probably married in France.

(9) Catherine Challion, ninth generation, married Noah Serré (109).

Chardon:

Madeleine Chardon (10), married first, Louis Pasquereau, and had three children: Pierre and Isaac, born in Tours, and Charles, born in London.

(10) Madeleine Chardon, tenth generation, married secondly, in London, Phillippe Gendron (37).

Chasteigner:

In "Guerre's de la Vendee," page 644½, under the Coat of Arms, the name is spelt "De Chasteigner" and is doubtless the correct way.

(11) Roch Chastaigner, eleventh generation, owned an estate known as the Chateau of Cramahe, which was situated about five miles southeast of La Rochelle, France. He married Jeanne..... ..... (  ) and had the following children:

Hector Francois, born.....; died.....; remained in France.

Henry Auguste, born.....; died....., married.

Alexandre Thésée (12), born.....; died..... .....; who emigrated to America.

(12) Alexandre Thésée Chastaigner, tenth generation, married Elizabeth Buretel (6) and had three children, viz.:

Alexander (13), born.....; died early in life and prior to June 12th, 1712.

Elizabeth Madeleine, born.... .....; died....., married.....Ralph Izard.

Henrietta Charlotte, born.....; died..... married.....Nathaniel Broughton.

(13) Alexander Chastaigner, ninth generation, married in America, Elizabeth Susanne LeNoble (64), and had only one child, a daughter named Catherine Elizabeth (14), born September 17th, 1711, died January 17th, 1748–49.

According to my conclusion the "Catherine Chatagner" and Paul Mazyck mentioned in connection with the death of René Ravenel (Ravenel Records, page 255) refers to Catherine Elizabeth Chastaigner and her husband, Paul Mazyck. If correct, husband and wife died the same day.

(14) Catherine Elizabeth Chastaigner, eighth generation, married..... .....Paul Mazyck (78).

Chintré:

Chintré en Maconnais. De guenles à la bande engrelée d'argent. (Inserted for future reference).

(15) Elizabeth Chintrie, (or Chintré), eleventh generation, married Pierre Buretel (5). (List of So. Ca. Huguenots).

Coker:

(16) Ellinor Coker, ninth generation, born.....; died 1745; married..... Isaac Cordes (19).

Nothing is known of Ellinor Coker, except that she married in the Barbadoes. Many of her descendants have long been under the impression that Isaac Cordes married a 'Cocas' or 'Ellicott,' but Major Theodore G. Barker, from whom I quote the following, in my opinion, sets the matter at rest.

"The authority upon which I have erased 'Ellicott' and left the text to read 'Ellinor Coker' is as follows:

First — No evidence can be found to sustain the assertion (contained in the 'Cordes record' found among the papers of Mr. Daniel Ravenel) that Isaac Cordes married Ellinor Ellicott.

Second — The Huger 'Cordes record' — does not mention 'Ellinor Ellicott,' but states that the second wife of Isaac Cordes was 'Ellinor Cocas' — (no doubt a corruption from 'Coker').

Third — Shortly before her death (at the age of 90), I asked my aunt, Miss Ellinor Cordes Barker, Who was 'Ellinor Ellicott' or 'Ellinor Cocas'? Her reply was to me very conclusive, viz: 'I never heard of any Ellinor Ellicott or Ellinor Cocas; 'Ma, (as she always called her Mother),

'Ma always told us that we got our headaches (a family inheritance) from Ellinor Coker.'

Fourth — James Jamison Cordes, who went to England from South Carolina in 1821, adopted or inherited a book plate, a copy of which Mr. Alex. H. Mazyck now has, (it was given to him by Mrs. Thomas Cordes, the wife of Thomas, who was the son of James Jamieson Cordes. She resides in England). The book plate shows the coat of arms above described, (a bear standing erect on its hind legs, and holding in his fore-paws an orb or globe, surmounted by a cross). At the same time Mrs. Thomas Cordes sent from England to Mr. Mazyck a copy of the book plate of Thomas Cordes, her husband, which exhibits the bear holding the orb, etc., of the Cordes Coat of Arms, with the Coker Arms, (three leopard heads surrounded with a band), quartered upon the Cordes arms. This shows that a Cordes, in the olden time, had married a Coker, not a 'Cocas' nor an 'Ellicott' and that the old people of that day so believed. I do not think a more interesting piece of corroborative proof of an historical fact can be found."

Cordes:

A seal which belonged to Thomas Cordes, who married Charlotte Evance, and a tombstone at old Biggin Church show that the family bore the arms assigned by Riestap to "Cordes Marquis de Cordue, in Provence, vic. "D'azur a un ours ramp. d'arg. sup. de ses pattes de devant un monde d'or, cintr'e et croiss'e du meme. S. un aigle de gu. D. Ferme an adversit'e;" that is: On a blue field a bear standing erect and holding in his fore-paws an orb of gold encircled also in gold and surmounted by a golden cross. Crest, a red eagle. Motto: Stedfast in Adversity. (Transactions of the Huguenot Society of South Carolina, No. 12, page 53).

Hext:

In October 1618, Sir Edward Hext, wrote to the Privy Council, objecting to the sending to Virginia of "Slaving boys and girls picked up out of the streets of London," (Virginia Land Co., by Niell, page 131.) "Mr. Hext, who lived at the corner of Broad and Mazyck Streets, where Mr. John Huger now lives," (Ramsay's His. of So. Ca., Vol. 2, page 325.) "Gov. John Rutledge was the son of Dr. John Rutledge and Miss Hext" (Ramsay's His. of So. Ca., Vol. 2, page 510.) The above notes are inserted for future reference.

Hugh Hext (50), according to an affidavit made by his daughter Martha, was a native of Dorsetshire, England. A letter was written to the postmaster of Frome, Somersetshire, England, but no reply was received though it was stated in the letter that he (or the curate of the parish) would be recompensed for any services rendered. The reason for writing to that place was because it was stated in the will of Edward Hext (son of Hugh) proved at Charles Town, February 22nd, 1741, that he left property to "my kinsman," Philip Hext of Frome, Somersetshire, England, "the father of Thomas Hext, lately deceased." It was thought possible that through the Hext's of Frome, that connection could be made with those living in the adjoining county of Dorsetshire. Edward, the son mentioned above, left property also to his "sister Katherine, still in Great Britain." His sister being "still in Great Britain," would indicate that the children were grown or nearly so, when, "he arrived in this country, prior to 1684." Hugh Hext would hardly have left his daughter Katherine in England if she had been of tender years.

(50) Hugh Hext, tenth generation, born.....; died Nov. 27th, 1732; married,....., ... .....( ) and had the following children:

Thomas, born.....; died.....; married, September 21st (or 26th) 1723, Judith Esther Torquet.

Amias, born..... .....; died..... 1721–2; married..... .....; Mary .....

Francis, born.....: died.....; married.....; Sarah..... ; "S. 1746."

David (51), born in Charles Town, So. Ca.; died.....

Edward, born..... died February 18th, 1741; unmarried.

Melior, born June .....; died.....; married.....,.....Godfrey.

Katherine, born..... .. ; died..... .....; married.....; ..... and living in England about 1740.

Martha, born.....; died.....; married, first..... William Bower; and, secondly, ..... John Bee.

David Hext (51), was made a commissioner by Gov. William Bull, May 7th, 1843, to make satisfaction to proprietors whose lands were damaged by works lately erected. He was also made a Commissioner on fortifications May 25th, 1745. ("Statute Book," Volume 3, pages 608 and 656). The So. Ca. Gazette of April 10th, 1749, states that he was a member of the Assembly. The notes from which the above were copied are very indistinct. (Inserted for future reference.)

(51) David Hext, ninth generation, married.....Ann, ..... (  ), and was her third husband. (Ann, who died in 1755, marrried, first, David Loughton; second, George Barnet). David Hext and his wife Ann, had the following children:

Martha, born.....; died..... married, April 29th, 1739, John Mackall.

Elizabeth, born.....; died.....; married, January 1st, 1755, Robt. Williams.

(52) Providence Hext, eighth generation, married, October 14th, 1739, Samuel Priolean (93).

Johnston:

Robert Johnston (53) is supposed to have been the name of the father of Charles Johnston (54). It is tradition that the latter was the first to come to this country. Tradition, however, from my experience which is by no means a limited one, is very frequently wrong. In the will of Robert Mackenzie (74), father-in-law of Charles Johnston (54), recorded in book "B" page 413, Probate Court, Charleston, So. Ca. the witnesses were Marian Johnston and Robert Johnston. Charles Johnston

(54) had a daughter named Marian. It is my belief that Marian Johnston was either an aunt or sister and Robert Johnston either an uncle or father of Charles Johnston. It is tradition that the father of Charles Johnston was named Robert. Judging from the names and the connection with the Mackenzies there must have been a close relationship between the three. A search of the records of Charleston, So. Ca. would probably establish this.

Charles Johnston in his will proved at Charleston, So. Ca., April 21st., 1804, bequeathed "to my sister Joan in Scotland, fifteen pounds per annum to be remitted to her without deduction during her natural life."

There is no way of tracing the Johnstons unless the records of the Probate in Charleston, So. Ca. can enlighten us. The final report of the Executors of the will of Charles Johnston (54), may give the place of residence of "my sister Joan, in Scotland."

(53) Robert (?) Johnston, seventh generation, married....., Catherine Melville (80), and had, I believe, the following children:

Charles (54), born..... .....1732; died January 23rd, 1804.

Isabel, born..... ; died.....; married ....., .....Kingsley.

Joan, born.... .....; died..... (It is tradition that he had a sister named Wilhemina).

(54) Charles Johnston, sixth generation, married, June 17th, 1770, Mary Mackenzie (75), and had the following children:

Macbeth:

Very little is known of the Macbeths from whom we are descended but from various sources I learn that three brothers came to this country and left at least four sisters in Scotland, named Elizabeth, Jeannette, Mary and Henrietta. Their father married twice, as it is well known in the family that two of the brothers, James and John, were half brothers to the other, named Alexander. Alexander (and may be some, or all of the sisters) were older than James and John. Alexander Macbeth, judging from his will, died unmarried. James Macbeth is stated to have been a native of the County of Nairn, Scotland. It is tradition that his half brother, Alexander, came to America prior or during the Revolution. The latter is mentioned in a year book of Charleston as being one of the prominant citizens who welcomed the British when they took possession of that City. James Macbeth had a full brother named John, "born in the County of Nairn, Scotland, on the 25th of December, 1768." This date we get from Robert Macbeth, son of John Macbeth and it is reasonable to suppose it is correct. Acting on this information I wrote to Scotland and had all of the records of Nairn, which is divided into three parishes, examined. It is very strange, in view of the fact that Robert Macbeth (son of John) makes the positive statement that his father was born in the County Nairn, and gives the date of his birth, that nothing could be learned, though every effort was made. It being impossible to learn anything of the family in Nairn, I suggest, that the final report of the Executors of the Estate of Alexander Macbeth, whose will was proven at Union So. Ca., June 7th, 1819, be carefully examined, if for any reason I am not able to do so.

According to the Judge of Probate of Union So. Ca., no returns were made at that place by the Executors and I am inclined to believe that as Alexander Macbeth had large interests in Charleston, his will was probated also at that place and that it is there that the final report of the executors will be found. Alexander Macbeth made provision in his will for four sisters "then living in Scotland," named Elizabeth, Jeannette, Mary and Henrietta. The executors, who were James Macbeth, John Macbeth and Alexander Hay, must have filed receipts from the four sisters when they asked for their final discharge and an examination of the papers of this estate may give the desired information. A search made on the same lines of papers belonging to the estate of Robert Mackenzie (74), and Charles Johnston (54), may also result successfully.

A nephew of Alexander Macbeth, named Alexander Henry, came to this country in 1830 or 31 to see about a legacy left to his mother by Alexander Macbeth. Henry was a very large man and said he had brothers of the same build. I presume the impression that a sister of James Macbeth married, ....., Henry and that another married,..... ....., Julie came from him. (Mr. Richard Y. Macbeth).

Alexander Macbeth, born .... .....; died in Union, So. Ca. prior to June 7th, 1819.

Mackenzie:

Robert Mackenzie was doubtless the first of the family who came to this country and, judging from his will, probably came from Leith, Scotland. His will, which of record in Charleston So. Ca. in Book "B," page 413 (a copy of which is included in this collection), makes a bequest "to my nephew, James Mackenzie," "same shall be remitted to John Thompson of Leith," and also "to my sister Mary Dickson, in Great Britain." He having survived both his nephew and his sister, a codicil is added and he makes bequests "to my niece, Margaret Fisher and Penelope Thompson, in North Britain." The latter may have been a daughter of "John Thompson of Leith." He mentions as executors, "Nephews Robert Mackenzie Jr., John Mackenzie, Andrew Mackenzie," and among the witnesses to the will are "Marian Johnston and "Robert Johnston." An examination of the records of Leith, Scotland, must be made for further information regarding Robert Mackenzie unless it is possible to locate the descendants, if any, of his nephews Robert, John and Andrew Mackenzie and from them learn something of the family in Scotland. (See Johnston (53) for remarks on Marian Johnston and Robert Johnston).

Melville:

Katherine Melville was the wife of Robert (?) Johnston. It is my belief that she was the niece, or daughter, of a certain John Melvill, who was at one time Steward or Factor, to the House of Buccleuch, at Langholm, Scotland. This John Melvill was the son of Robert Melvill, Esq., of Caskerdo, and Isabel, daughter of William Mason (?) of ..... It is tradition that we were related to the Buccleuchs but the relationship was very likely with John Melvill. Charles Johnston (54) probably corresponded with John Melvill and it was in this way that the relationship (?) with the Buccleuchs arose, as John Melvill, being their Factor, was, of course, closely associated with them. John Melvill had a sister named Elizabeth, who married David Malcolm, an ancestor of Hon. W. E. Malcolm of Burnfoot, Langholm, Scotland. It is strange that our Johnston ancestors would have corresponded with Mr. Malcolm's if there had been no connection. Mr. Malcolm, in a letter to me, July 1st, 1895, stated that "the Malcolms at Burnfoot (Langholm), had corresponded with three old Miss Johnstons and their nieces at Charleston, So. Ca., but their connection was never traced." The connection may have been known during Charles Johnston's time. Charles Johnston had a sister named Isabel, who married Kingsley of London. Robert Melvill's wife was named Isabel.

The following is a copy of the memorandum Mr. Malcolm enclosed in his letter to me and which he copied from one written by Hon. Philip Melvill and sent by him to Sir Charles Malcolm, October 7th, 1842.

Memorandum: Robert Melvill, Esq., of Caskerdo, married Isabel, daughter of William Mason (?), and died about 1669, leaving issue: 1. John, secretary to the Earl of Melvill, when secretary for Scotland, and afterwards Steward or Factor to the Duchess of Buccleuch, at Langholm; 2. William, who had issue, a daughter, who married Mr. Douglas of the family of Telquhillie, in Kincardinshire. Amongst the children of this marriage was Mr. Douglas, late Bishop of Salisbury; 3. James; 4. Charles, M. D. (was one of the maternal uncles of Robert Malcolm, son of David Malcolm and Elizabeth Melvill); 5. Robert; 6. Thomas, who had issue, a son Thomas, a man of great genius, appointed Governor in Chief of our Settlements in Africa, and died at Cape Coast Castle, in 1756; 7. Elizabeth, above mentioned, who married David, son of William Malcolm, of Cupar, Fife. She was born 1682, died January 13th, 1700. David Malcolm was born 1659, died October 8th, 1706.

Our Katherine Melville could have been the grand-daughter of any of the foregoing sons: William may have had other children besides the one who married Mr. Douglas. It will be noticed that Mr. Malcolm does not state that either John, James, Charles or Robert were married. This is very probable. Our Charles Johnston may have been named after Charles Melvill, and his sister, Isabel Johnston, after Isabel Mason, wife of Robert Melvill, mother of Charles Melvill. Mr. Malcolm called my attention to the fact that our Melville had an "e" at the end of the name. This, I think, is immaterial. We have no knowledge that our Melville was not originally spelt "Melvill."

The following is a portion of what was enclosed with my letter to Mr. Malcolm and was told to me by my grandmother, Henrietta G. Ravenel Macbeth (107), about 1880.

Mary, daughter of Robert Mackenzie and his wife, Mary..... ...., married Charles Johnston of Scotland. Charles Johnston, born 1732, died January 23rd, 1804, at Charleston, So. Ca. He was the son of Robert (?) Johnston and his wife Katherine Melville (said to be Lady Melville and descendant of Sir James Melville); a sister of Catherine Melville married a Malcolm. All we know of Charles Johnston was that he had several first cousins by the name of Malcolm. (The "first cousins" may have been 3rd or 4th). All the foregoing has been inserted for future reference.

(80) Catherine Melville, seventh generation, married,..... ....., Robt. (?) Johnston (53).

(84) Robert Newman, eighth generation, married..... ..... . .....and had a daughter named Esther (85), who was born,.....and died November 13th, 1767. He probably had other children as the name is one that is familiar to the present generation.

Noel:

(86) Oliver Noel, twelfth generation, was probably a native of Brittany,

France, he married Susanne Lemoyne (62), and had a daughter named Anne (87), born June 14th, 1602; died Feb. 25th, 1654.

Prioleau:

In Baird's Huguenots, Vol. 2, it states that Elias Prioleau's grandfather was Elisee Prioleau, and on the tablet erected to his memory in the Huguenot church in Charleston that "His father, Samuel Prioleau, son of Antoine Prioleau." The foregoing is most likely a mistake. Elisee Prioleau was probably the grandfather of Pastor Elie. The only accurate record, I believe, is in the "List of So. Ca. Huguenots," of those who desired naturalization, in 1696, where it was necessary to state the names of parents. In the list referred to, Elias Prioleau states that his parents were Samuel Prioleau and Jeanne Merlat.

(90) Samuel Prioleau, eleventh generation, married Jeanne Merlat (82), and had a son named Elias (91), the emigrant, born 1659; died 1699;

The collecting of signatures has been a very difficult task. Correspondence with the present owner of a document, letter, etc., signed by an ancestor, with the view of obtaining a copy thereof, is much desired.

In addition to the signatures included in this collection, the wills of many ancestors have been found and their location noted. If the original wills are in existence efforts should be directed towards obtaining a fac simile of the testator's signature. The wills of many of the Gaillards, Gourdins, Ravenels, Mazycks, Chastaigners, de St. Juliens, also of Pierre Burtel and Henry Noble are probably in the office of the Judge of Probate, Charleston, So. Ca.

The wills of Pierre Baudoin ( ) and of his wife, Elizabeth ( ) are recorded in Boston, Mass.

The will of Mary Pearson ( ) wife of John Pearson ( ) is recorded in Winnsboro, So. Ca. Search should be made for the wills of the Ewings, Breadings, Gillespies, Covingtons, Hendersons, etc., at the place where they last resided.

The original signatures, of which fac similes are included in this collection, are located, owned, or were received, as follows: —
